LAW INTELLIGENCE.

SURROGATE'S COURT-JAN. IA-Before A. W. BRADFORD. THE ARCTIC.—WHICH OF THE GUYSETS DIED FIRST?

A case of unusual interest is shortly to come before the Surrogate. As yet it has merely been opened formally, but is expected to reach a trial in the course of two or three weeks.

On the 27th of September, 1854, Mr. Guynet, wife and three children were lost in the ill-fated steamer Arctic. Mrs. Guynet, who was the daughter of Peter Potrier, owned certain real estate when alive-the right to which property is drawn in question in the present suit. Mrs. Guynet left heirs here, but her Ausband left none in this country.

The Public Administrator asks leave to sell this real cetate, on the ground that Mrs. G. and her children med first, and her husband therefore succeeded to her rights and died seized of the property.

The application was opposed by Heary Day (with whom Daniel Lord is associated), on behalf of Mrs. Guynet's heirs, who contends that no title can be shown in Mr. G. at the time of his decease.

The question in the case therefore turns upon the order in which these parties severally died. This may be brought down to a mere question of fact—both sides intending to introduce the evidence of survivors from the wreck. If, however, as seems more probaale, a satisfactory decision cannot be arrived at without the aid of the presumption of law to be entertained in the premises, the case will be a difficult one to decide, as adjudicated cases under our law are not numerous or authoritative, and such as they are, conflict with each other. The law of other countries is better settled.

SAMPSON SIMPSON'S WILL-A BUT FOR BIBLIOGRAPHERS -HOPE FOR THE JEWS.

The will of J. Sampson Simpson, a rich and promipent Jew, of this city, whose death on the 7th inst. has heretefore been noticed in our columns, was filed today. Mr. Simpson was 77 years old when he died. He retired from the practice of the law some thirty or forty years since, and purchased a farm in Yonkers, the value whereof has since risen greatly. His property is probably worth $400,000 to $500,000. We present a copy of those clauses of his will which probably worth $400,000 to $500,000.

We present a copy of those clauses of his will which are of interest to the public.

By the first clause, John H. Riker and Ansel Leo are spointed executors.

By the third clause, bequests are made to Ansel Leo are spointed executors.

By the third clause, bequests are made to Ansel Leo or of my old Hebrew manuscript Bible, now in my possession, originally belonging to Mr. Joseph Simpson, my grandfather; also, the original correspondence between Dr. Cooper, President of Kings inow Columbis College, Dr. Kennicott of Oxford, and my grandfather; also, the original Hebrew letter from the Jews in China to my father, with his answer in Hebrew; also, a letter in English from a Jew in China to my father; also, a manuscript in unknown characters, entitled "Ex dome septembers comities "St. Germain qui orbem terrarum percucurrit." I also give to him my cabinet of minerals and fossils "And I enjoin upon him to make such disposition of my manuscripts and letters, by gift or will, that, after his decease, they shall not go out of his family."

After directing the investment of $50,000 for the support, &c., of his nephew, Moses A. Isanes, the will goes on to direct the payment of the principal, after his death, to a responsible corporation in this city, existing at the death of Mr. Isanes, "whose permanent fund is cetablished by its charter for the purpose of meliorating the condition of the Jews in Jerusalem, Palestine—whose duty it shall be to transmit the interest thereof to Jerusalem to ameliorate the condition of the Jews living there by promoting among them Education, Arts and Sciences, and by learning the mechanical and agricultural vocations.

If no such corporation exists, and the above intention can be accomplished through the instrumentality of the Jews Hospital in Jerusalem, or any other corporation consenting to receive the principal and apply the interest sedicated, it is to be paid them.

By the 9th clause, $3,000 is bequeathed to the Trustees of the Congregation Shearith I Eity.

The residue of his estate is distributed among the decedent's relatives.

The will is dated "the 6th day of Tebeth, 5617, cor-"responding with the 2d of January, 1857."

JONATHAN I. CODDINGTON'S WILL. The will of the late Jonathan I. Coddington was filed some days since, but is kept from the public at the request of his relatives, among whom most of his property, amounting to nearly a million, is distributed. It was supposed that several charitable institutions would receive bequests; but they are all disappointed. The will is not contested.

TWO WIDOWS UPON ONE MAN—WAS HE CRAZY?

James Bach died on the 31st of last October, without heire or next of kin, but left a paper, which is presented for probate as his last will and testament. It is as follows:

for probate as his hast with and county of New-York, mer-shant, do hereby make and declare my last will and testament hast, do hereby make and declare my last will and testament he manner and form following: That is to say, I give, bequeath he manner and torm dature, to Mrs. Margaret Gumbault and to devise all my estate and property, both real and personal, of every name and nature, to Mrs. Margaret Gumbault and to Mrs. Sarah Monfort, both of the City and County of New-York, and with whom I have resided for many years, to have and to hold unto them, their executors, administrators, heirs and as-legas forever. I hereby revoke all other and former wills by me made, and mominate and appoint my friend Julius Rahet of the City of New-York, merchant, sole executor of my last will had testament.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this twenty-eighth day of April, 1856.

TAMES & RACH. II, 1856. JAMES × BACH.

Mrs. Gambault and Mrs. Monfort were a couple of widows who lived with the decedent during the latter part of his life.

The validity of this instrument as a will is contested on the ground that Bach was insane and was subjected to undue influence. If he died intestate his property goes—the real estate to the State and the personal to the County of New-York. The Public Administrator and the Attorney-General are therefore the contestants, for both of whom A. B. Tappen appears: Nelson Merrilli for the proponents.

The subscribing witnesses having been examined as usual, the contestants opened their case to-day and called two witnesses.

Called two witnesses.

Dennis Regan, who was engaged by Mrs. Monfort to take care of a feeble gentlemen: she told him to go to walk with Mr. Bach, which he acc.rdingly used to do; he was told to follow him in his walks, because he wouldn't be permitted to walk by his side: witness was told by Dr. Storer that Mr. Bach ought to be where the crazy people were; soon afterward, Mrs. Monfort said to him (Dennis), Mr. Bach has willed his property to Mrs. Gumbault and to me (the legatees in the will); the next night she said, "Dennis, you will take care "of Mr. Bach, he is very poorly indeed take off your "oost and put a white handkerchief round your head;" on going into the room witness found Mr. Bach in bed, Mrs. Gumbault standing by; he wanted to get out of bed, and shouted out to Dennis, "Dr., will you give "me my pass out of here!" then turning to Mrs. Gumbault, he said, "Are you the Church! if you are, be "merciful; I have paid a heavy sum to-day. I have paid a newayk before, but I have paid a heavy sum "to-day"—the very day that Mrs. Monfort said he had made his will.

Dennis thought and still thinks Mr. B. crazy. His evidence was not materially shaken on cross-examination.

Mrs. Gumbault and Monfort ordered Margaret to Mrs. Gumbault and Monfort ordered Margaret to bold him in bed. Both alter from beauti and Montort ordered Margaret to aleep in Mr. Bach's room, and to hold him in bed. Both ladies spoke about the will the day it was said to have been made, saying that he had signed his will to them; Margaret took him to be crazy before this; Dr. Storer told her to look out for herself and trip him up if he tried to do anything to hurt; she accordingly did so before the will was made both in the day and night three. On the cross-examination Mergaret stated that she meant by tripping him up to take him round the middle and throw him down, for fear he would choke her.

Bininger & Clark claim to hold the interest which was given to Judson to induce him to transfer his uterest in the hotel to his copartner, Cranston. The plaintiffs allege that this has been released.

The application is for an injunction restraining Cranston from parting with his interest in the hotel, and for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of Judson's interest in the property, for an account of the profits of the business since the alleged assignment, and for a decree pronouncing the assignment from Judson to Cranston fraudulent and void, and canceling the interest of Bininger & Clark.

The defendant Cranston puts in an answer in which he alleges that the consideration of the assignment from Judson was his undertaking to pay the partnership debte, and those claimed to be such by Judson, and that the lease noder which he now holds persession was made subsequently, and belongs to himself alone. Bininger & Clark deny all the allegations of the complaint, except that averring the transfer to themselves.

Bininger & Clark deny all the all-gations of the complaint, except that averring the transfer to themselves.

The case of Griffin agt. Cranston, which is still pending on appeal from Judge Slosson's decision, appointing a receiver, turned upon substantially the same question as that involved is this suit. The trial occupied not far from a month.

$125,000 of its promises to pay. If there is any Safety Fund money, either on hand or in prospective, over paying up for former broken Banks, such money is certainly due to the holders of Lewis County Bank notes. If there were any assets of the Bank, where are they? Who is the Receiver, if any? Whose business is it to look after the interests of the billholder? There certainly must be something, or there was a dead swindle. Any information on this subject from State officers or from outsiders will be thankfully received. All we ever could learn was, that Gen. Nye, on the application of the owners of the Bank, was appointed Receiver, and that Mr. St. John, the then Superintendent, revoked such appointment. Perhaps the General can illuminate some. Where are the assets of the Lowis County Bank? The holders of Lewis County Bank notes expect a report from somebody. Will our delegation—will Mr. Roberts of qur district help us to some kind of a report? It distresses us to see a New-York Safety Fund Bank buried without there being some regard paid to the mourners.

The Independent says of the Dry Goods market:

The Dry-Goods trade is yet unopened for the season, though there is great preparation making for it, in taking goods out of the public warehouse, but the importers are a little embarrassed by the non-arrival of the goods they ordered. Collections are coming in well. A large amount of Western merchants notes tall due on the 4th of February, and already we observe remittances are coming forward. The large New-York banking houses connected with the West report favorably of the increase of western deposits.
